

Report - February 2007

A Thousand Cuts

This new report by the Center and NYATEP finds that now more than ever, New York needs a strong workforce development system -- but declining funds and uncoordinated programs are obstacles to progress.

by David Jason Fischer and John Twomey

Click here to read the full report \(PDF\).