

Report - January 2010

Closing the Skills Gap

This report, jointly published by CUF and the Community Service Society, finds that New York City faces a human capital crisis that could threaten the city's long-term economic competitiveness while relegating countless residents to low-wage jobs. It shows that an alarming number of New Yorkers now lack the skills and educational credentials to compete in today's economy and warns that the problem will only get worse in the years ahead. The report calls for a comprehensive campaign to develop the skills of New York's population.

by David Fischer and Jeremy Reiss

Click here to read the full report (PDF).

RELATED PRESS

Illiteracy takes a toll on job-hunting New Yorkers; jail also a big drawback

New York Daily News, by Karina Ioffee, February 08, 2010

Brian Lehrer Show discusses CUF's "Closing the Skills Gap" Report

WNYC, February 16, 2010

Many Workers Seen Lacking Skills for New Jobs

Wall Street Journal, by Joseph de Avila, March 15, 2011

Aid Haitians, immigrants to help NYC economy: mayor

Reuters, by Joan Gralla, January 20, 2010

New Memo to Bloomberg: New Yorkers Left Behind

The Village Voice Blog, by Tom Robbins, January 21, 2010

Joblessness and the Skills Gap

Huffington Post, by David R. Jones, January 28, 2010

CENTER FOR AN URBAN FUTURE
120 Wall Street, 20th Floor, New York, NY 10005

cuf@nycfuture.org © All Rights Reserved.